CHINA WIRELESS ANNOUNCES STRATEGIC COOPERATION WITH A LEADING CHINESE NETWORK EQUIPMENT VENDOR

DENVER, CO March 23, 2004/PRNewswire-FirstCall -- China Wireless Communications, Inc. (OTCBB: CWLC) announces it has signed a cooperative agreement with Datang Gohigh Networks Technology Corporation. This agreement provides China Wireless with the capability to accelerate their network build out in Beijing to provide connectivity for broadband network-based applications. Both companies will begin the process to design, install, and maintain the City Broadband Network Systems in Beijing in the first stage, then to duplicate the successful model in other major cities in China. As a leading player in telecom equipment market, Datang Gohigh will fully support CWC's development in China.

Mr. Brad Woods, CEO of China Wireless commented, "Our strategic partnership with Datang Gohigh, whose strong influence in China's telecom equipment market, shows our ability to prevail as a leading network system integrator. We are expanding the coverage of our network in Beijing which demands reliable equipment with advanced technology. Support from Datang Gohigh will fulfill our requirements and facilitate our implementation of this plan."
