CHINA WIRELESS SIGNS MULTIPLE CONTRACTS THROUGH ITS CHINESE SUBSIDIARY

DENVER, June 7, 2005, PRNewswire -- China Wireless Communications, Inc., (OTC Bulletin Board: CWLC), is pleased to announce that it has signed multiple contracts with the following Chinese Companies: Tianjin Education Group, Tianjing University and Tianjin Jinhai Sea Transportation Company.

Tianjin Create Co., a subsidiary of China Wireless Communication, has signed a contract to provide host servers for Tianjin Education Group which will be used to support educational and administrative applications for students and educators. In addition Tianjin Create Co. will provide hardware, i.e. laptop computers, to the Tianjin University. Internet services will be provided as part of the IP project which is underway at the Tianjin Jinhai Sea Transportation Company, a major sea transportation enterprise in the Pacific Rim region.

Frank Li, President and CEO of Create Co., said, "Our joint venture with China Wireless has created a broad base of financial, legal and operational expertise to grow our business throughout China. We see China Wireless as a strong technological partner with the diverse technologies our clients require to expand their businesses domestically and internationally. Our operations will grow as we meet our customers' business objectives with new and reliable products and technologies. Tianjin Education Group and Tianjin University are existing customers who we actively service to improve its technological capabilities. We will be assisting the Tianjin Jinhai Sea Transportation Company with its Internet services providing high quality products to meet its business needs."
